

FIELD OFFICER

South Hedland, WA

This position plays an integral role in supporting the IBN community through case management and advocacy and linking with other service providers. We are looking for a committed, flexible and critical thinker with a demonstrated understanding of Aboriginal people, culture and society.

This role provides a link between IBN beneficiaries and our programs in areas such as education, health and employment. A background in Human/Social Services case management and particularly youth work is desirable.

- Salary from $82,350 p.a. plus superannuation
- Housing allowance may be provided
- Attractive employee benefits

Experience in a related field with a demonstrated understanding of social welfare programs is essential. Certificate level qualification in Human Services/ Social welfare or progress towards same is required along with class C driver's licence.

For more information please visit www.ibngroup.com.au
call Caroline Lee, Service Delivery, (08) 9140 0936

Applications close Monday 20th October 2014